SUMMARY

Ussuriysk Army Barracks North is located on the northern edge of Ussuriysk (Figure 1).

The installation covers approximately 375 acres and contains 146 buildings, including 3 administration, 3 administration/barracks, 18 barracks, 47 general storage, 44 support, 12 vehicle maintenance/storage, 8 possible officers/dependents quarters, and a secured unidentified area with 11 buildings and 1 tower (Figures 2 and 3). A possible small-arms firing range is located approximately 0.5 kilometers (km) west of the installation. There are no other visible training facilities in the immediate vicinity.

missions covered the area

A high level of winter activity is observed in the barracks area and the motor pool area in however, there has been an apparent decrease in activity in the motor pool on recent coverage. No other significant change is observed since initial coverage.

The extensive vehicle maintenance areas, utilized the year around, and trackage leading to roads that enter a nearby mining operation suggest the possible maintenance of vehicles associated with industrial activity. There is also heavy trackage from the motor pool to the rail line, indicating a possible additional transloading point for material. This area has no visible off-loading equipment or buildings. A definite military function for this installation cannot be confirmed from aerial photography.
